Summary of the Topic Models

I don't think that my browsing history would provide a good representation of my information space. One of the reasons for this is that I had deleted it a short while back. So my current browsing history would only represent a small portion of my interests. I feel that it would be better for topic modelling if there is a lot of browser history that can be used. Still there were some clouds that could match my interests perfectly. There were some clouds in German which I don't recall at all, the reason for which could be that I read it in the translated form. There were also a few clouds which for some reason were repeated although the words may not be in their exact locations in the clouds.
